Introduction

Our work processes and service offerings have been refined over 20 years of new installations, network upgrades, and plenty of successful troubleshooting. This month, Fusion Systems ITMS has been effectively supporting our global and local clients with various service offerings such as Wifi-Surveys, E-Commerce website development, new store openings and installations as well as application development ensuring smooth project progression and execution across the APAC market.

Does your company have a functional E-Commerce website?

The pandemic has not only transformed the way customers shop but also how customers pay for their purchases. E-Commerce has grown rapidly with consumers thus making it more important for retailers to create their own E-Commerce websites. E-commerce can now be quickly integrated into a corporate website by implementing plug-in platforms such as WooCommerce at a reasonable cost. Improving performance is always critical, we help our clients to increase their sales revenue from their E-Commerce websites. Fusion Systems has built and maintained major global company websites for over 20 years, coordinating with the client's global headquarters, technology divisions, marketing divisions, and APAC offices. Our regional development and marketing team has extensive experience supporting E-Commerce within major content management systems such as SiteCore, AEM and OCM. Contact us for a consultation on E-Commerce strategies today.

have access to specific applications by creating secure, dedicated connections between the individual's devices and the cloud-based servers. We highly recommend all companies to seriously consider Zscaler to improve their on-line security and move their digital transformation forward. Feel free to ask us about Zscaler's services and how we can help Integrate Zscaler into your security and compliance programs.

Global and Regional multi-channel marketing

Multi-channel marketing coordinated between on-line and off-line media is the new standard. Fusion Systems has over 20 years of on-line/off-line campaign concept development and execution in several countries. All marketing activities are created and executed by a core team that includes a project manager, one tech designer and one developer so that the project is scoped correctly and executed flawlessly. By utilizing marketing integration, results substantially improve in comparison to focusing on a single advertising channel. With our global offices located in Tokyo, Shanghai, Hong Kong, and Los Angeles, trust us to bring your company and clients together.

A big thanks to TechGenix for featuring Fusion Systems and our Regional Tech Delivery Manager Darren Lewis!

With a discussion surrounding both the positive and negatives of using SMS for 2FA, Darren Lewis provides insight and shares: "When using MFA on a phone, you need to think of the security of your phone and the apps. Make sure the phone is screen-locked in case you lose it or leave it lying around. Make sure also that your phone is not rooted."
